

John Homa Brings Acting Workshop to Pittsburgh

Acting coach John Homa is returning to Pittsburgh for another in his series of workshops for both kids and adults. John will be hosted by Pittsburgh AFTRA and will be here on May 21 and 22. Class registration information is posted on his website - www.johnhoma.com and a registration link included below. There is a discount for all AFTRA members.

His class is highly recommended for anyone who is serious about exploring the acting craft and experiencing what it is like to work professionally on-set. John's class is a technically specific, technique oriented, passionate approach to the craft of acting and its direct application to the workplace. He employs a holistic approach to the actors' work. There will be: Scene work...scene work...scene work... But in a fashion that satisfies the demands of the business, whether on set or in the audition.

There is specific concentration on scene breakdown, emotional preparation, cold reading etc., but in a very intense and practical way. Be prepared to work and be prepared to be challenged.
